Announcement Charges Those Held Stored Explosives to Blow Up Bridges

British Concern

Principal Anglo Concern Centers Over Protracted Negotiations

(By The Associated Press)
Police of the nazified free city of Danzig today announced the arrest of 20 "Marxian Socialists" who they said were "presumably associated with some hostile foreign power."

The announcement, which came as some capitals had been expressing optimism over Polish-German tension over Danzig, said the prisoners had stored explosives to blow up bridges and added that they would be charged with treason.

Although not naming the country with which the "Marxian Socialists" were suspected of being connected, the police were said to be trying to learn whether the "conspiracy" extended into Poland and Russia.

Principal Concern
As the British cabinet met today principal concern seemed to be the protracted delay in the Moscow negotiations for including Russia into the British-French front. Less hopeful observers felt that the three-month-old talks could not continue much longer without losing much of their value.

Britain had another apparent stalemate on its hands in the Tokyo negotiations on Tientsin. Ambassador Sir Robert Leslie-Craig, after a five-hour meeting tonight with Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita, was said to have departed in anger with the situation still deadlocked.

Britain went ahead with her mutual defense plans on the continent, Major-General Sir Edmund Ironside, inspector-general of overseas forces, beginning an inspection of various branches of the Polish army.

Japanese Defeat
Chinese reports asserted that deep in China the long-checked Japanese forces in Hupeh and Shansi provinces had been defeated by the Chinese. The reports said a large-scale battle was underway now in Southeastern Shansi, and that the Japanese had lost 7,000 men there in the past two weeks.

To combat a widespread whispering campaign in the protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia, former heart of the Czechoslovak Republic now governed by Germany, the minister of transportation, George Havelka, urged fellow Czechs to adapt themselves to German aims rather than nourish "unfounded hopes." In a radio appeal he sought to dash dreams of resurrecting the Czech republic.

Fairway Among Graves
Casper, Wyo., July 19 (AP)—Keeping High Road Cemetery attractive should be a matter of wedding, moving and watering—not of replacing divots, workmen told Casper police. So officer Jack Bordeaux lectured two teen-age youths who had been using the lawn between gravestones for fairways and sinking punts in cans intended as flower receptacles.

Hurricane Chances

Harvard 'Prof' Says Chance Greater This Year, Weather Conditions Indicate

Boston, July 19 (AP)—A Harvard hurricane expert said today there was a greater chance of another big blow in New England this year than in any other year.

Dr. Charles F. Brooks, director of Harvard's Blue Hill Observatory, writing in the Harvard Alumni Bulletin, said the chance for a hurricane occurring in any year was about 150 to 1, but went on to explain the odds were much lower this year.

He explained that the major features of atmospheric circulation tend to retain or revert to a general pattern for a year or more. In addition the great extent and fragility of the laborator current this year seems to favor high pressure over the grand banks and southward—just like last year.

Congressman Hanged in Effigy

After a mock trial at which speakers flayed his WPA-relief vote, Republican Congressman Charles F. Risk of Rhode Island was "hanged" in effigy in a busy square at Woonsocket, R. I. Sporting a lily in the coat lapel and a copy of the Congressional Record in one pocket, a dummy representing the legislator dangled from a third story window.

Brooklynite Held For Grand Jury on Bad Check Count

Salvatore Colello Is Said to Have Given Check for $150 for Fruit Bought in 1938

Salvatore Colello, 40, of 35 Marconi Place, Brooklyn, was held today for grand jury action on a charge of grand larceny, second degree, arising out of a check transaction. Colello was arrested by Sergeant E. J. Hulise and Trooper Baker on complaint that he had purchased fruit last fall from the Hepworth Fruit Stand at Marlborough and gave a check for $150 which turned out to be worthless.

Colello was lodged in jail over night and this morning arraigned before Justice John Rusk, Jr., by Deputy Sheriff Ray Wines. The charge made by Hepworth was that he sold apples to Colello last season and took in turn a check for $150. He had had several transactions prior to that but the check turned out to be worthless. Colello claims that he applied which he purchased were not good and he endeavored to return the fruit. He also claims that he has paid $80 on the check and now owes but $70 balance. Colello said he had been out of work for some time but had just secured a job as driller at $40 a week and would make good the balance of the money it allowed to continue his work.

Trial of 20 Men To Begin Monday

$15,000,000 Bootleg Ring Trial Is Postponed

New York, July 19 (AP)—Trial of 20 defendants charged with conspiracy to evade federal liquor tax laws in the operation of an alleged $15,000,000 bootleg syndicate in Orange county, N. Y., was postponed in federal court today until Monday.

John L. Sloan, commissioner of public works in Newburgh, N. Y., headquarters of the alleged ring, was not among the 20 defendants indicted, as reported by the Associated Press on July 10. Twenty-five others indicted on the same charge have pleaded guilty. Sloan was indicted by a special Orange county grand jury on charges of obtaining proceeds from an allegedly fraudulent audit of relief food orders. He is free under $2,500 bond, and has no connection with the federal case.

Russell Captured
Ozark, Ark., July 19 (AP)—Warden Jess Dunn of the McAlester, Okla., penitentiary left here today with Jack Russell, 39, returning him to the prison farm from which he escaped last Tuesday. Russell went back to Oklahoma after a week of desperate flight across a half-dozen states, ended when a rural sheriff trapped him yesterday in northwest Arkansas.

Michigan Governor Says He Didn't Want Job Anyway; to Give Speech Tonight

Lansing, Mich., July 19 (AP)—Upset by scoffers and the threat of an attempt at recall, Michigan's 80-year-old governor, Luren D. Dickinson, prepared today to make a radio temperance speech and to "strike another blow" against liquor.

His speech was scheduled for delivery tonight over a Michigan network.

The governor was indignant recently upon his return from the national conference of governors in New York state, where he said he observed much "high life" and was shocked by seeing many women and girls drinking.

"Scared Them Out"
Michigan has invited the governors to hold the annual conference.

Mrs. Leahy Dies Of Auto Injuries

Former Kingston Woman Dies in Bronx Hospital

Mrs. Margaret Leahy, formerly of Kingston, widow of James Leahy, died in Morrisania Hospital, the Bronx, this morning from injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

According to word received by relatives here, Mrs. Leahy was struck by a car while on her way to a store to do some shopping last evening. She was removed to the hospital, but failed to respond to medical aid.

Mrs. Leahy, who was born in Kingston, and has many friends in this city and vicinity, is survived by three sons, Edward of Sawkill; Patrick and James Leahy of New York City; one daughter, Mrs. Daniel Haggerty of the Bronx, with whom she lived, and one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Dwyer, New York City.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed, but it was announced that the body will be removed to Kingston for burial in St. Ann's Cemetery, Sawkill.

Congress Alone Has Power Over WPA Change, Says FDR

Harrington Lacks Official Right, Except in Some Unusual Emergency, Is Opinion

32,582 'Fired'

WPA Chief Gives Figures on Dismissals; Protest Planned

(By The Associated Press)

The 130-hour work month for WPA employees, in President Roosevelt's opinion, can be changed only by an act of congress revising the new relief law.

Mr. Roosevelt told reporters in Washington yesterday it was his off-hand judgment that except in an unusual emergency WPA Commissioner Harrington has no authority to waive the requirement, which caused widespread strikes of skilled relief workers last week.

AFL leaders had argued that the law gave Harrington authority to restore the prevailing hourly wage scale for skilled workers.

Harrington reported that 32,582 workers had been dismissed for staying away from their jobs five days during the walkouts. He said the number on strike yesterday was 26,511, or fewer than one-third the number out five days previously.

Protest Planned
The Workers Alliance, a union of WPA employees, went ahead, however, with its plans for a nationwide protest tomorrow against the new law. David Lasser, president, said there would be a general stoppage of work and parades in many cities.

Lasser said also that the alliance members now on strike would return to work provided those who had been dismissed were reinstated.

In Minneapolis, scene of violence in connection with the WPA strikes, there appeared a division of opinion among the workers on the question of returning to their jobs.

Chester Watson, state president of the Workers Alliance, said, "the strike will go on." White collar workers, however, appealed to Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota to reopen the projects closed last week after Mayor George E. Leach said police could not be responsible for maintaining order at the projects.

Orders Extension
In Philadelphia, the AFL building trades council ordered an extension of the walkout of union employees to include those on all government-financed jobs.

Group Scours Mountain For Missing Boy, 12

Millinocket, Me., July 19 (AP)—Searchers today climbed the rugged slopes of Mount Katahdin in a hunt for 12-year-old Donn Fendler of Rye, N. Y., lost on Maine's highest peak Sunday.

While one group of mountain-wise woodsmen spread out on the Hunt trail, on which the boy became separated from his father, a brother and a friend near the cloud-enshrouded 5,273-foot summit, fresh recruits searched the wild "Klondike," a section on the opposite slope.

Two bloodhounds were ready to join the posse, and the boy's father, Donald Fendler, offered a $500 reward.

Four Youths Killed
Ohio, Ill., July 19 (AP)—Four youths were killed and at least two were injured seriously today in a collision of a cattle truck and one carrying 14 young cornfield workers, near here. Two of the dead were identified as John Koss of Dupue and Leo Gedvilas of Spring Valley.

Asks Poughkeepsie Court
Washington, July 19 (AP)—Senator Mead (D-N. Y.) introduced yesterday a bill to provide terms of federal court for the southern district of New York should be held at Poughkeepsie "at such times, not less than one year, as may be fixed by rule of such court."

Nazis Pour Scorn on Women's Fashions, Hats Especially, as Wasteful Foreign Swindle

Berlin, July 19 (AP)—Das Schwarze Korps, organ of the Elite S. S. Blackshirt Guards, poured scorn today on women's styles, especially in hats, as a wasteful "foreign swindle."

Das Schwarze Korps declared: "German women should learn that one puts a dress aside when it is worn out or no longer is suited to her age—not when it becomes 'out of fashion.'"

"For what really becomes a woman 'charmingly' in the spring definitely becomes her just as charmingly next spring and the spring thereafter, provided it is good cloth and well taken care of."

Das Schwarze Korps sees in constantly changing fashion creations an "irresponsible waste of material" at the expense of national economy.

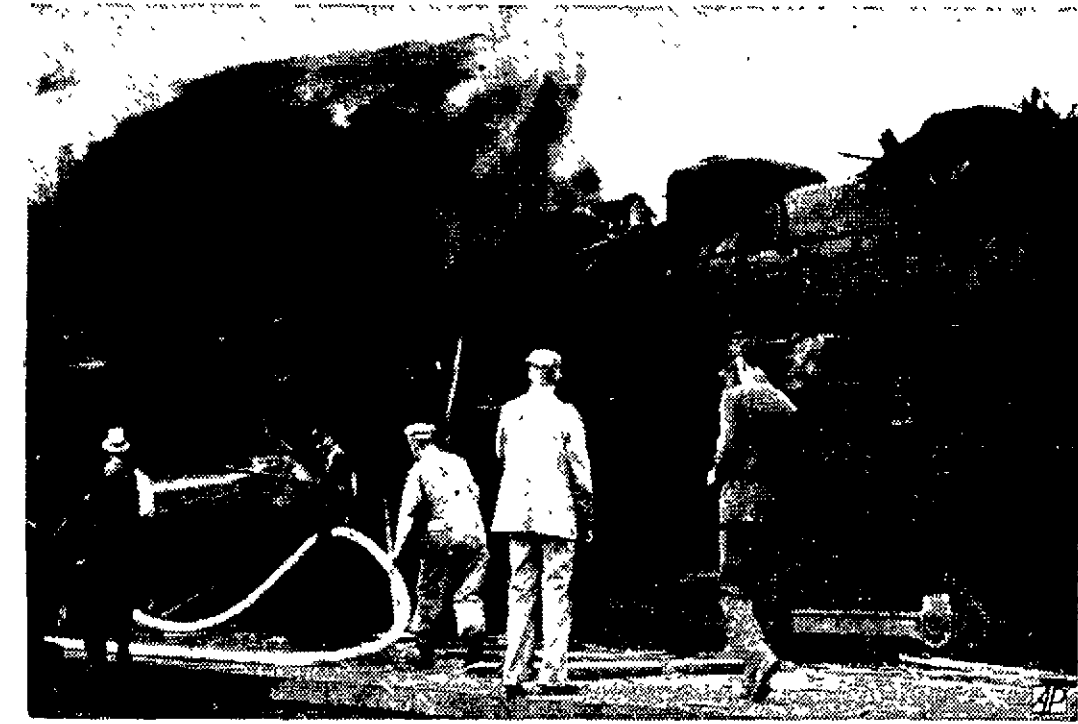

"For what is the use of our entire anti-waste campaign," the magazine asked, "if the fashion industry, by a continuing change of styles, intentionally makes products of the textile industry worthless almost from month to month?"

The publication found particularly distasteful "advertising magicians" who convince women that to be beautiful they have to obtain "models being ballyhooed right now."

"As a result they put a Brazilian plover or an Australian jabiru

Route 55 Contract To Croton Group

Work Will Begin in Few Days; Requires 2 Years

New York, July 18. (Special)—The contract for the construction of 8 1/2 miles of road, to replace part of Route 55, which will be eliminated by the proposed Lackawack Dam and reservoir there, has been awarded to the low bidder, Ottaviano and MacDonald, Inc., and A. E. Ottaviano, Inc., both of Croton-on-Hudson. Their joint bid was $942,660. The largest bid of the four received, was $1,082,690.

Work will start in a few days, according to engineers of the New York City Department of Water Supply, which made the announcement. It will take about two years to complete it.

The road, in two sections, will be to the east and west of the reservoir. The east section, five miles long, will be 20 feet wide, and the other part, 3 1/2 miles in length, 18 feet. Two bridges at Wawarsing will be included.

The construction will begin at a point on Route 55 about five miles north of Napanoch. The road will extend in a northwesterly direction from there toward Gramsville.

E. R. A. Seligman Dies at Lake Placid Of Heart Seizure

Noted Economist, Fiscal Expert Was Noted as International Sage on Finances

Lake Placid, N. Y., July 19 (AP)—Edwin R. A. Seligman, 78, noted economist and fiscal expert, died yesterday at his summer home following a heart seizure.

Professor Edwin Robert Anderson Seligman, dean of American economists, was one of the world's foremost authorities on international finance.

Dr. Seligman spent 51 years building up the largest private library on economics in America. In 1930, when it totaled 50,000 volumes, he refused an offer of $1,000,000 for the collection from Harvard University and instead sold it to his Alma Mater, Columbia University, for half that amount. Bids were reliably reported to have been made also by the Japanese government and by the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. The latter desiring the books for its library on trade, finance and the history of socialism in Moscow.

Garden Hoses Are Cut By Gasoline Thieves

A new wrinkle for obtaining gas to operate an automobile without paying for it has been reported to the police department when several residents lodged complaints that during the night some one had cut from four to five feet out of the garden hose, and then used the piece of hose to siphon gas from the tank of their automobile.

It was noticed in the complaints that only owners of cars parked at the curb or in the yard had their garden hose cut, and gas siphoned out of their car tanks.

Complaints were received from residents on Brewster street, Smith avenue and Albany avenue.

Rainfall Since May Is Only 3.33 Inches

Continued Drouth Lowers Cooper's Lake to Level Which Obtained in '36

Since the first of May but 3.33 inches of rain have fallen in Kingston, according to the records in the city engineer's office in the city hall. The records show that so far this month but .09 inches of rain have fallen here.

The drouth that has gripped Kingston and Ulster county began in May when only 1.10 inches of rain fell that month. In June there was a slight increase with 2.14 inches recorded by the rain gauge on the roof of the city hall.

As a result of the lack of rain lawns and gardens all over the city are parched. Lawns that in other years presented a pleasing green appearance are now parched and yellowed by the lack of water.

Superintendent Henry Darrow when seen today stated that Cooper's Lake, which supplies the city with water, is 5 feet 8 inches below normal. In 1936 during a long, dry spell the lake was practically the same level.

Water is still being consumed at the rate of 183 gallons per person daily in the city, based on a population of 30,000. The average consumption daily here is five and a half million gallons.

Owing to the drouth the water department is still enforcing the hours of sprinkling which are limited from 6 to 8 o'clock in the morning and the same hours at night.

Roosevelt Secretary Says From Time Session Ends Until January FDR Will Pray for Peace

Senators Bristle

President's Plan to Take Issue to Voters Taken as Challenge

Washington, July 19 (AP)—A White House aide said today that President Roosevelt would have to call a special session of congress to act on neutrality legislation should a crisis develop in Europe after adjournment.

The statement came from Stephen Early, Mr. Roosevelt's press secretary.

When asked whether the president was going to take the neutrality issue to the country, Early replied:

"I'm certain of one thing, that from the time congress adjourns until it reconvenes in January, the president will pray as never before in all his life that there will be no new crisis in Europe."

The president reluctantly accepted last night the advice of senate leaders that he should abandon hope of obtaining neutrality revision—principally repeal of the arms embargo—this session but there were strong indications that from now until the issue arises at the start of the next session he will take his fight for repeal directly to the people.

Some senators apparently accepted these indications today as constituting an unexpressed challenge which they were prompt to accept.

Among these was Senator Johnson (R-Calif.), an adamant opponent of administration neutrality proposals, who told reporters that "if the president does go to the country we'll go on the slogan that this country wants no war."

Would Ask Public
Washington, July 19 (AP)—President Roosevelt, reluctantly accepting the advice of senate leaders to abandon his demand for neutrality revision at this session, was represented today as prepared to take his fight for repeal of the arms embargo to the country.

The president left this definite impression with a group which gathered around him last night at the White House and finally persuaded him and Secretary Hull that congress has no disposition to spend a month or more debating neutrality legislation.

After arguing that the senate's failure to act would weaken the United States' influence in preserving world peace, the president broke up the extraordinary three-hour conference just before midnight.

The Democratic and Republican chieftains who attended said there was a definite understanding that there would be no senate move on neutrality until the next session. Adjournment of congress is expected in two or three weeks.

The president's intention to take his fight to the country, conferees explained, was voiced during a heated discussion with Senator Borah (R-Idaho), a leading opponent of the administration's neutrality program.

Borah Is Plain
Borah, who voted with the majority of the foreign relations committee against action at this session, was described as making it plain that he never would agree to repeal of the arms embargo, key point in the president's drive to revise the law.

The president was said to have declared warmly that he planned to go to the country, to tell the people his views. To this Borah was quoted as replying that other

Ships Collide

S. S. Coolidge, Freighter Crash in Whangpoo; No One Is Injured

Shanghai, July 19 (AP)—The American liner President Coolidge and the Japanese freighter Nissan Maru collided today in the Whangpoo river. Numerous plates of the liner's side were bent. No one was injured.

The President Coolidge was turning in the river, preparatory to tying up at a buoy when the Japanese ship, coming down river, apparently misjudged the current and struck the liner on the port side amidships. The bow of the Japanese craft was damaged.

Aboard the President Coolidge was Rear Admiral Thomas Charles Hart, arriving from the United States to take over command of the United States Asiatic fleet from Admiral Harry E. Yarnell next Tuesday.

Dawn Blood Noel Kills Self After Marital Quarrel

Hollywood, July 19 (AP)—The 19-year-old wife of a dance band leader was dead today of a bullet police said she fired herself as the climax of an argument with her husband over a four-hour absence from a nudist colony where they spent the week-end.

Police Capt. Dalton R. Patton said an investigation had convinced him Dawn Blood Noel, daughter of the once-noted Broadway actress, Adele Blood, was a suicide. Details of the shooting were sobbed out by 36-year-old Herbert (Jimmy) Noel, her husband of 18 months.

Noel told officers he was upbraiding an acquaintance over the telephone for accompanying his wife away from the camp when he heard a shot. Rushing into the bedroom of their North Hollywood home he found her lying on the floor, blood streaming from a wound in her temple.

Party at Nudist Camp
"We had gone last Saturday afternoon to the nudist camp in Tunas Canyon," Patton quoted Noel as saying. "The party continued that night, all day Sunday and Monday. We came home about 8 o'clock Tuesday morning."

"We had been doing some drinking at the camp and made several trips back to the (Noel) house during the party. Monday night, about 6 p. m., Dawn said she was going home to feed the dogs and exercise them, and that she would be right back. She didn't come back for four hours."

"I found that two men and a girl I know only as Jeanette joined Dawn at my home."

Noel said his wife had seemed despondent and melancholy much of the time since her mother killed herself on the grounds of the Westchester Country Club, Port Chester, N. Y., in September, 1936. He brought his wife here a year ago.

The shooting occurred shortly after their return home yesterday.

BAND LEADER WEEPS FOR DEAD WIFE

The face of James Noel is contorted with grief as he tells Los Angeles police of the death of his wife, Dawn Blood Noel, 19, who was found shot in their North Hollywood, Cal., home. Police Captain D. R. Patton quoted Noel as saying his wife shot herself while he was using the telephone to reprimand a guest at a week-end nudist camp party for his association with Mrs. Noel.

Mother of Slain Girl Plans To Take Fight to President

Harrisburg, Pa., July 19 (AP)—The mother of Joan Stevens, 14-year-old Nesquehoning girl killed by a Pennsylvania state trooper, said today she would carry a campaign to win "justice and vindication for my daughter" to the White House if necessary.

Mrs. John Stevens saw Gov. Arthur H. James yesterday.

"If I don't get justice here," she declared, "I'll go to Washington to get satisfaction. I'll see Mrs. Roosevelt."

Her daughter was shot a month ago by Corporal Benjamin Franklin of the Pennsylvania motor police, now under bond on a homicide charge while the case awaits grand jury action. He said he fired when the girl drew what looked like an automatic pistol.

District Attorney Albert Heimbach said the girl held a harmless toy.

The governor referred Mrs. Stevens to Attorney General Claude T. Reno.

"We can't prejudice this case," James said later. "In the final analysis it is a matter for a jury to decide."

Mrs. Stevens sobbed as she waited for the governor that she "wasn't even told my daughter was shot until the next day" and declared her belief the girl "never even had so much as a toy pistol, let alone a real pistol."

Several Hundred Lose Their Jobs at New York's Fair

New York, July 19 (AP)—The New York World's Fair has dismissed several hundred employees—including members of its colorfully clad information corps—in an economy move dictated by failure of attendance to come up to expectations.

Officials of the $155,000,000 enterprise also are offering bargain day tickets this week-end and are considering reducing the admission fee from 75 to 50 cents.

The fair declined to announce the exact number of workers dismissed, but the information service cut was put unofficially at 250. A further cut of between 500 and 600 in the operations personnel has been made, the New York Times said.

President Grover Whalen said the staff reduction was in line with budget requirements and would not diminish service to visitors. A skeleton staff of 50 was retained in the information department.

In an attempt to increase traffic at the Fair's gates, where attendance has averaged 50,000 to 100,000 fewer persons a day than was predicted, one travel agency reduced its all-expense tours for out-of-town visitors from 8 to 30 per cent.

Food for Byrd

That government expeditions like armies, travel on their stomachs, was evidenced today as the first emergency cargo of canned foods passed through this city en route from Cambridge, Md., to the Bear of Oakland, flag ship of Admiral Richard E. Byrd's new Antarctic expedition, now lying in Boston Harbor. Last week Admiral Byrd was appointed by President Roosevelt to head the new U. S. Government Expedition into the South Pole country, to stake out claims to over 675,000 square miles of the Antarctic Continent for Uncle Sam.

Ignoring doctor's orders to remain in bed, Gerald Backhouse went to the Melbourne Cricket Ground and won his heat in the qualifying mile championship event. The following day, he stayed in bed until noon, then again started and won the final.

The face of James Noel is contorted with grief as he tells Los Angeles police of the death of his wife, Dawn Blood Noel, 19, who was found shot in their North Hollywood, Cal., home. Police Captain D. R. Patton quoted Noel as saying his wife shot herself while he was using the telephone to reprimand a guest at a week-end nudist camp party for his association with Mrs. Noel.

Mother of Slain Girl Plans To Take Fight to President
Harrisburg, Pa., July 19 (AP)—The mother of Joan Stevens, 14-year-old Nesquehoning girl killed by a Pennsylvania state trooper, said today she would carry a campaign to win "justice and vindication for my daughter" to the White House if necessary.
Mrs. John Stevens saw Gov. Arthur H. James yesterday.
"If I don't get justice here," she declared, "I'll go to Washington to get satisfaction. I'll see Mrs. Roosevelt."
Her daughter was shot a month ago by Corporal Benjamin Franklin of the Pennsylvania motor police, now under bond on a homicide charge while the case awaits grand jury action. He said he fired when the girl drew what looked like an automatic pistol.

District Attorney Albert Heimbach said the girl held a harmless toy.
The governor referred Mrs. Stevens to Attorney General Claude T. Reno.
"We can't prejudice this case," James said later. "In the final analysis it is a matter for a jury to decide."
Mrs. Stevens sobbed as she waited for the governor that she "wasn't even told my daughter was shot until the next day" and declared her belief the girl "never even had so much as a toy pistol, let alone a real pistol."

FOOLISHNESS ABROAD

"Curiouser and curiouser," exclaimed Alice in Wonderland when events got beyond her capacity to absorb surprises. And "curiouser and curiouser" is what we think about recent news from the Old World.

There is the unexplained development along the Brenner Pass where the order has gone forth not merely permitting Germans to move into the Reich but commanding all foreigners to leave the South Tyrol at once. Why? Incredible answers are given. Foreign observers suspect that the real reason is to make sure outsiders do not see some movement or preparation about to be made in that region.

Then, there is the story about Hitler, the astrologer, putting all professionals to shame with his superior skill in casting horoscopes. It is a serious study with him, taken up because he would trust nobody but himself to read the heavens for directions in the dangerous game he is playing. Macbeth, we recall, consulted witches.

There is also the rumor that Mussolini has leased the industrial seaport of Trieste to Fuehrer Hitler for a ten-year period. Here is a real estate deal to make the world take notice.

The amazed reader could go on indefinitely culling such tidbits from his favorite newspaper. Perhaps Europe has a mid-summer silly season, too.

THE TROUBLE WITH US

No matter whether there is war or peace, no matter who is President or which party is in power, says Rev. Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo of New York in a recent sermon, we shall have misery instead of plenty, a dust bowl instead of a garden—until we rediscover the three simple facts on which this country was founded.

These facts are first, the dignity and worth of the individual; second, people living and working together harmoniously for the common good and third, a government founded on spiritual and moral values.

"Patriotism and religion can do go together," he says. "This has been a land of promise, an asylum for the downtrodden, and a home for the oppressed to untold multitudes. But something has happened to this country. Call it by any name—social, economic, political—it doesn't matter. Democracy is being discredited in the world because it seemingly won't work here.

"Instead of peace we have war here, for we are at war with each other. At a time when we should be standing together, we are tumbling apart, because each man is for himself and exploiting others."

MAYOR HAGUE REFORMS

Those who have criticized Mayor Hague of Jersey City for his persistent denial of free speech, press and assembly—and such critics have been many—should now give him credit for seeing a great light or being a good sport. Since the decision of the United States Supreme Court he has reformed, and he seems to be leaning over backward to give the liberals a square deal.

"We have no desire to limit free speech," he says. "The Supreme Court has spoken and we want to comply in every way." No permits will be required for labor organizers, and leaflets may be freely distributed. Meetings may be held in front of factories, although not within less than 50 feet.

The court decision was timely, and so is the acquiescence. Fair play and constitutional procedure are unusually important in America today.

A GOOD STATESMAN

In a New York Times editorial about Representative Sam McReynolds, chairman of the House committee on foreign affairs, who died the other day, occurred the following statements:

"He kept his poise. He was calm. He was steady. He was full of common sense. His mind wasn't parochial. He was a good specimen of a good type, the home-bred statesman broadening in outlook and ripening with experience."

There would be more such men in Congress—for there are plenty of them in this country—if voters understood better and cared more about true representative government. So long as citizens want to be represented by politicians who will work for local interests and respond to group pressure rather than consider first the national good, there will be many of that type making the laws of the States and the Nation.

CELESTIAL LOVE NOTE

Mr. and Mrs. A. Oscar Wigenjost of Omaha indulged in verbal fireworks on the Fourth of July which did a lot of damage. Mrs. W. went home to mother and started divorce proceedings.

Mr. W. may have been pretty disagreeable during the family row, but he regretted it afterwards. So he hired a ski-writer for $100 to soar up into the blue and write in smoke the tender message "Wiggie loves Helen."

The note affected the lady in question no whit, but it made one thing clear. All the lads who carve initials and hearts on trees and rocks and chalk love notes on sidewalks are pikers. The sky's the limit. Sky-writing does not last so long as their deathless carving and scribbling, but it certainly does "tell the world."

Another sign of what we call modern civilization: They've had to organize a club in Cleveland to find jobs for men past 40. In the old days a worker at 40 was just getting a good start.

Thrift, which used to be a virtue, is now a vice, and it's patriotic to spend your money. Then, too, you might get some of it back.

What good are vacations? As soon as a fellow has got over the blisters and stiffness, he has to go back to the job.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)
HOW STUTTERING IS CURED

As youngsters there was always a laugh when a stuttering boy got up to do some reading. I believe we thought stuttering was a mental defect. When I got older, I was one of a number seeking a certain scholarship; the student who won it over all of us stuttered very badly. I corrected my idea that stuttering was a mental defect.

However, it is only in the last 10 to 20 years that research workers studying stuttering (and many of these workers were not physicians) discovered that stuttering was simply due to nervousness. They discovered that under certain circumstances such as the quietness of the home there was no stuttering, no hesitancy in speech. This showed that there was nothing wrong with the mouth or vocal cords or stuttering would be present "always."

Instead of waiting for children "to grow out of the habit" of stuttering, physicians today recognize that the stutterer is a very nervous individual, one who looks in on himself, one who is self-conscious in the presence of others, and so try to draw him out of himself.

Dr. James Sonnett Greene, New York, in his editorial as guest editor, Medical World, states that there are thirteen million (10 per cent) of the population of the United States who have some sort of lation of the United States who have some sort of speech defect or voice abnormality. The stutterers alone number over a million. Dr. Greene says that the careful investigation usually will disclose that the majority of stutterers are products of homes in which the parents are themselves very nervous. The young stutterer very often gets scolded and even whipped for stuttering which makes him afraid of every new person or circumstance. Stuttering is really an outward sign of the youngster's feeling of inferiority or inability to compete on equal terms with others.

At the Medical-Social Clinic in New York of which Dr. Greene is a director, the child is treated as if no speech defect were present. The atmosphere and surroundings are of a "friendly" nature. However, at the same time, the surrounding atmosphere and circumstances have been so arranged that the stutterer has to face, in the physician and the other stutterers of the group, the real things of life that he has been trying to avoid. He learns to use the telephone to an outside party, and address the other members of the group, and to take part in dramas.

In short, stuttering is cured because the stutterer learns to speak in the presence of others without nervous tension.

According to the New Paltz Independent, preparations were practically completed, save for the connections, for New Paltz to have New York city water from the Ashokan Reservoir.

Nick Zinn of this city defeated Maxie Leiner of New York, in main bout at boxing bouts at state armory on Broadway.

Houston, Texas, (AP)—Francis V. Davis, 34, of Dallas has never eaten meat, vegetables or fruits. "I don't like their odor," he explained. The former Carrollton, Ill. man, said his diet, since he cut his milk teeth, has consisted of bread, crackers and cereals. "I have never used a knife and fork," he added.

Apparently in perfect health, Davis weighs 135 pounds and is 5 feet and 9 inches tall.

GETTING A BIT IMPATIENT

MARLBOROUGH

Marlborough, July 18.—The newly established plant of Arno Garments, Inc., here has been opened and is now operating. There are 20 experienced operators from the city at work on some of the machines in the former Advance building on Main street.

These operators will continue for some time. More help is wanted, however, and it is expected that local women and girls from Marlborough can be obtained, either experienced or beginners. The firm makes sportswear.

The annual lawn festival of the M. L. Church of Lettingtown will be held on the evening of July 24. There will be a concert by the church band and fireworks will be displayed. Refreshments will be on sale.

On Sunday afternoon, July 23, at 2:15 o'clock, the local freemen will stage a donkey baseball game on the dock. The single men of the department will play the married men, and the lineup is as follows: Single freemen—John Lynn, Jr., Joe Cuttito, Franklin Stevens, John DiSantis, James Albertson, A. Turitto, Alanzo Pressler, Robert Good, John Munger, Christy Kelly, Thomas Polizzi and Adolph Froemel. The married freemen are: Christie Tuthill, Andrew Knapp, Allen Purdy, Edward McGowan, Albert Marks, Hunter DeWitt, John DuBois, Floyd Milard, J. Doyle Hutchins, Lawrence Smith, Francis Johnston, Benjamin Munger and Joseph Morrow.

The annual organization meeting of the school board will be held this week. A president of the board will be elected to succeed Edgar M. Clark. At this meeting appointments will be made for clerk, treasurer, janitors, secretary, health officers, truant officer and other officers and staff members will be selected.

Calvin E. Staples, Sr., was unanimously re-elected at last week's voting as a member of the board of education of the Marlborough Central School District. Of the 84 votes cast, all were for Mr. Staples. This is for a five-year term.

The annual meeting of the Marlborough Central School was held last week. Edgar M. Clarke, president of the board of education, was elected chairman of the evening. Joseph Alfano, clerk of the district, served as required by law, as the clerk. There were about 80 school voters present. The tax rate for the year is estimated at approximately $24.75 per $1,000 assessed valuation. Mr. Clarke, the board president, made an interesting report of the past busy year. He reported the trouble with the Marlborough sewage disposal plant, now entirely repaired, at the expense of the contractors, and slight changes in the basement of the Marlborough building. He described the grading and landscaping of the schools. He spoke of the success of the adult education classes during the winter months. The budget was adopted by a large majority. Frank McNicholas and Allen Purdy were appointed tellers of election.

Adolph Knaust and his wife, the former Ruth Staples, have added to the number of turkeys they are raising on the Staples farm in West Marlborough. They have about 400 on hand at present and 170 poults are expected any minute. Last year this young couple raised 300 fowls altogether, and they found the business so worth while that this year they are expanding it. The Knausts do not hatch out any young turkeys, they are sent to a turkey hatchery. The Knausts have bronze turkeys, Bourbon Reds, Black Susans and a white variety.

The Misses Eleanor Givens, Frances Ferguson and Clyde Spencer and Sam Quimby, Jr., left on Saturday morning for Poultny, Vt., where they will attend the Young People's Conference.

The Intermediate Society of the Presbyterian Church will dramatize the "Book of Ruth" Wednesday night, July 23. This will start the commencement of the Bible School. Committees consist of Doris Dalby, Florence Winfield, Mary Ellen Black, for costumes; staging, Harold Vowles; properties, John and Arthur Gove and George Beran.

Mrs. George Halwick has returned home after spending the past two weeks visiting in Walden and Gardiner.

Mrs. Fred Fowler has returned home after spending a week's vacation in Maine.

Barbara Baxter left last week for a summer vacation which will be spent in Maine.

Miss Myrtle Bennett, chief operator in the local telephone exchange, has returned to her duties after enjoying a week's vacation.

Mrs. Frank Powell left last Wednesday for Troy.

Victor Froemel was ill at his home a few days last week, and under the care of Dr. Scott.

Miss Beverly Quinn of Washington, D. C., is spending the summer vacation at the home of her sister, Mrs. Charles Atkins.

Stamps In The News

Germany has banned Slovakia's latest philatelic offering, as might have been expected. The stamp depicts a former General Milan Stefanik, Czechoslovak hero, wearing a French uniform.

General Stefanik was killed in an airplane accident in 1919. The stamp was to be a 20th anniversary commemorative. Before his death, Dr. Edouard Benes, Prof.

Thomas Masaryk and he formed the triumvirate that brought Czechoslovakia into being. A Slovakian astronomer, he became a French general in charge of Czechoslovak legionnaires fighting on the French front. Later he went to Russia and Siberia to take charge of Czech troops fighting there.

The values and colors are: 40h, dark blue; 60h, olive-green; 1Kc, brown-violet; and 2Kc, blue-gray and brown.

Shake-Up In Hatay
After joining the "Stop-Hitler" front, Turkey was given the northwestern corner of France's mandate, Syria. This move promises a change in the postal setup of Hatay (or Alexandretta).

One of two things is now likely to happen. Either Hatay's postal system will be taken over completely by Turkey; or Hatay will issue definitives to displace the overprinted provisionals now in circulation.

Alexandretta first came to the attention of philatelists last year. Syria overprinted 26 stamps with "Sanjak d'Alexandrette" (District of Alexandretta). Later in the year, after Turkey's President Ataturk died, five of the stamps received a second overprint, to commemorate the death.

New French Issues
France this year has been one of the world's most prolific issuers of postal and semi-postals.

One of the most interesting of the new issues is a 10-cent stamp depicting the French painter, Jacques David, depicting the event.

After Louis XVI became irritated with the French Commons, a legislative body, and bolted the doors so that its members could not enter, the members went to a tennis court nearby. There they took an oath not to "separate as a representative body till a Constitution had been established on solid foundation." This event happened June 20, 1789. Within a month the revolution was well under way, partly as a result of the oath.

One good way to keep silver bright is to keep it in a drawer lined with dark outing flannel.

Neutrality Bill Only Thing That Could Prolong the Present Session of Congress

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 19.—Although a definite date for the adjournment of Congress has not been set, the desire of members of both houses is to wind up the session sometime between now and the first of next month.

There are, of course, many pieces of pending legislation, any one of which could prolong the session if the President or the leaders demanded action, but there seems to be no urge so great as the inclination to adjust or compromise differences of opinion and let the vacation season begin for the legislators.

Members of Congress in the past have stayed here all through the summer when critical situations have arisen, but the only thing that could prolong the present session is the neutrality bill. The fact that events in Europe seem to be in a state of deadlock between the rival groups has lately developed the impression on Capitol Hill that no great risks should be taken if the Congress adjourned subject to possible call of an extra session in the autumn whenever European developments required it.

President Roosevelt's information as to what might happen in Europe any day is derived from secret sources. In the last year, he usually has known from two to three weeks in advance whenever something was stirring in Europe that might provide a crisis. Naturally, the President cannot make public what information he has, because to do so might provoke the very situation which other nations may be seeking to avert. American ambassadors and ministers abroad, in fact the army and navy intelligence systems, are constantly gathering information as to what is likely to happen.

If, therefore, Mr. Roosevelt were to abandon for this session his fight to get a neutrality bill through, it would be a clear indication that his information did not forecast an immediate crisis and that nothing would be lost, from an American viewpoint, in delaying neutrality legislation for several months. The argument has been made, on the other hand, that the action of Congress of the United States is itself related to what might happen in Europe.

Thus, it is contended by some of our observers abroad that a straightforward repeal of restrictions and a return to international law would be not only to Europe but to America as well, to either side which could pay for it and come and get it. Such a step would be regarded as encouraging to the democracies and, in that sense, discouraging to the war-makers—namely, the dictator states.

For it is an odd commentary on the whole European situation that not a single one of the Democratic powers is suspected as a danger for war and that, whether or not singled out as such by formal proclamation, the aggressor states are well-known. Under these circumstances, the knowledge that aggression may possibly be prevented if it is known that American war supplies will be shipped abroad may play a part in stopping war.

The administration from the first has tried to make it clear that it wanted to render moral support and did not wish in any way to commit the United States to participation in any war. The president has been represented as believing that, even if a European war did break out, the American people would demand that every effort be exerted to keep the United States out of it.

Neutrality has been an issue for many months in the minds of the legislators and it is regrettable that the administration did not push for passage of a revised law earlier this session. Today, the subject can hardly be removed from consideration by a mere postponement of action by congress. It has become a matter of importance abroad as well as at home. With some sort of temporary truce or adjustment of the method of handling neutrality law revision—for something will have to be done about it in the next six or eight months—the congress will find itself moving swiftly to dispose of other pending bills. Some investigations will be voted and will take place during the recess. One of them is an inquiry into the operations of the National Labor Relations Board; another is a Senate inquiry into the whole field of banking, credit and monetary policy.

Camp Preumaker Boys Go Fishin'

Camp Preumaker, July 19.—The second day of the local Y.M.C.A. day camp has just come to a well tanned ending. Four hours of "jest fishin'" marked the day's main activity. The boys were ready to hunt bait at 9 o'clock this morning and as soon as they had gathered enough worms, clams, snails and what not together, George "Rip" Anderson took six of them out in a rowboat and they fished and fished. So engrossed did they become in the Walton sport that they entirely ignored the call for the morning swim. The rest of the camp took to the water with great relief as the oppressive heat made the wind-ruffled water the only cool place around. When the fishers landed they were none the less enthusiastic despite the rather glum reports concerning their respective catch. A veritable chorus of "none" greeted our ears as we asked the inevitable "how many." Morning swim over, the boys scampered back for camp and lunch. On Monday George Geisler had brought food to cook with him and had quite a time getting the "dorm" stuff ready. Today George had gained the wisdom of experience and brought himself a hearty picnic lunch. Everyone ate with relish and the rest period came as a welcome respite from the grinding rays of a scorching sun. Directly following rest period Ronnie Lord, Jim Decker, James O'Connell, George Geisler and I played a bit of catch with a good sized volleyball. The object was to have the ball with both hands and get it high into the air. Good exercise as I can testify through my stiff arms. "Rip" had a group on the archery field including Arnold Pecker, Bob Ronder and Max Perlman. The rest of the gang were well content to rest in the welcome shade of the glorious trees surrounding the field.

Fishing soon became the topic of conversation again and we all made for the falls just below the lodge. Here the boys found themselves each a quiet pool and started to angle seriously. The first catch of the season was hauled in by Ronnie Lord and it was a nice sized sunfish. Ronnie's catch sent all the fellows headlong for his pool, but nary a catch was brought in. Wolfgang Knorr remained at his own spot and soon brought in another fish, the second of the season. Wolfgang's was not as large as Ronnie's but it was a fish and was brought home as trophy for the day.

Wednesday has been set aside as the day we are all to cook our food over an open fire and as we left the boys this afternoon the air was rent with the cries of each of them yelling to his "Buddy" as to just what the menu was to consist of. It promises to be good.

Movies Are Made On Poultry Farm

"Under the direction of Prof. H. E. Botsford of the New York State College of Agriculture, cameramen from the R. F. Thurlow Art Director's Service, Chrysler Building, New York, spent Saturday at Hickoryhill Farm, West Shokan, taking technicolor movies of Weidner's White Leghorns.

The films which are to be shown at the Seventh World's Poultry Congress, Cleveland, O., July 28-August 7, and later at the New York World's Fair, will show many phases of progeny-test work as carried on by Mr. Weidner with his leghorns. Flocks of breeders inside their pens and growing pullets on the hillside ranges were filmed. Individual birds with outstanding egg production and family records, together with their detailed records, will be in carefully studied close-ups.

Professor Botsford took special pains to include as much of the natural setting as possible in these films. Views of the surrounding mountains and the Ashokan Reservoir served as a background for many of the shots. Mr. Weidner's old stone house, with the poultry buildings adjacent made the setting for the shots of individual birds, records, and apparatus.

After these films are returned to the college in the fall they will form a part of the regular lecture service to students taking the two and four year courses in poultry husbandry at Cornell.

Camp Happyland Boys Show Gain

Christmas Seals bought last winter are paying their individuals in health at Camp Happyland, it was reported today by officials of the camp.

All of the 48 children now in attendance have gained in weight and several have added as much as four and five pounds since coming to the camp July 3, and one boy gained seven pounds in two weeks. They will remain in camp until July 31.

The general gain in weight and health is attributed to plenty of rest, air and proper diet. The children rest each day from 1 to 3:30 o'clock. They retire at 8:30 o'clock each evening after three full meals a day with a quart of milk for each child.

Parents and friends are invited to visit camp next Sunday, July 23, between 3 and 5 p. m., and then the children will relate their own stories of many happy days—their swim, showers, ball games, picnics, league contests and of things learned at camp, such as eating different vegetables and fruits, rest in the afternoon, morning and night prayers, and many other events.

The children will give an entertainment and hope many friends as well as their families will favor them by their presence.

Diplomatic Immunity

New York, July 19 (AP)—Whether the representative of a foreign government has the right to allow his dog to run about the city without a muzzle or leash is puzzling Magistrate Peter M. Horn. A patrolman gave Mrs. Heinz Thorne, wife of an attaché of the German consulate general's office, a summons for allowing her black cocker spaniel to run loose in front of her home. Mrs. Thorne, unable to appear in court yesterday to answer the summons, raised the issue of diplomatic immunity in a letter to Magistrate Horn, who said he would ask counsel for the prevention of cruelty to animals for an opinion.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Bristle in Glee

The liver should pour out two pounds of fluid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food does not digest. It just decays in the bowels. Get bile up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, weak and the world looks pink.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes three good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet smothering in making bile flow. Get your Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Refuse anything else. At all drug stores, 10¢ and 25¢.

What Is Your News I. Q.?

By The AP Feature Service

Each question counts 20; each part of a two-part question, 10. A score of 60 is fair, 80, good.

1. What's the name of this man who has been confirmed as head of the world's largest library?
2. Outsiders have long wondered how Hitler could bring Italy's Tyrolean Germans into the Reich without antagonizing Mussolini. What's the plan Germany has now announced for doing this?
3. German-American bundsmen kicked out their leader, Fritz Kuhn, after they learned of charges against him of stealing funds. True or false?
4. A British editor writes "If Britain should be invaded, and bilked her allies, no one in the world would believe we had the guts for any test." To what pledges was he referring?
5. Did the U. S. impose extra duties on silk imports from Japan, (b) China, or (c) Italy?

Acts Score Hit At Hutton Park

A crowd estimated at 1,500 attended the Community Night program last evening at Hutton Park.

Bill Israel acted as master of ceremonies and Jean Ward directed the orchestra. A trombone solo was given by Lou Roosa and the band then gave a selection.

A specialty on the bill was a chorus of boys clowning their way through a modern polka selection. A vocal number was given by Jacqueline Stauding who also was observing her eighth birthday.

Two piano selections were given by Janet Tubby after which "The Cut-Ups," a group of boys with home-made instruments, "did their stuff." Sonny and Shirley DeGraff then put on their "song and dance" act, which registered a decided hit with the audience and the band concluded with "Little Sir Echo."

Program Tonight At Barmann Park

Barmann Park's weekly community night will be held tonight at the park.

The girls' softball team will play the boys' midgeet team at 7 p. m. The program includes Fred Van Deusen, who in the past has delighted his audience with his numerous tricks of magic.

Several of the girls, including Norma and Betty Erbe, Rosemary Murphy and Shirley Rich, will perform a pantomime entitled "Aunt Betty." The play is a comedy in one short act and should provide many laughs. Other short singing and dancing acts will complete this part of the program.

The even popular movies after the other entertainment.

Driver Falls Asleep

The driver of a platform truck bearing New Jersey license plates fell asleep at 6:30 o'clock this morning as he rounded the curve just north of the Cameron Fruit Stand at Ulster Park and crashed into a tree and pole wrecking the truck. Driving southerly at the time the driver said he had fallen asleep at the wheel. Outside a few minor scratches on his face the operator did not seem to be injured. Deputy Sheriff Ray Winne investigated the crash. The front of the truck was very badly damaged.

Was Not Atwood Inn

The fight which took place at Atwood, Saturday night between patrons of the place and a Jewish visitor after a "Hell Hitler" had been hurled, did not take place at the Atwood Inn of which Nicholas Brown is proprietor but at another Inn at Atwood. Sheriff Molyneux sent deputies to the place to bring about order and two men were placed under arrest.

Safety Reflectors Placed on By-Pass

at night may keep to the concrete these reflectors have been installed. They are placed on iron posts located from 50 to 100 feet apart.

As a car passes over the highway the headlights illumine the reflector buttons and the autoist finds himself driving along a two-way lane with what appears to be a long row of street lights stretching as far ahead of the car as the headlights illumine the road; a row of lights on each side of the road.

The reflectors are double so that whether the car is driven out or in the by-pass the way is illuminated.

It also would be discussing the issue and that the people would have a change to decide which side they believed.

The final decision to abandon efforts to revise the law at this session was said to have been brought about by an informal poll of those present, taken by Vice-President Garner.

Besides the president, Garner, Hull and Borah, those who attended the conference were Democratic Leader Barkley, Republican Leader McNary, Chairman Pittman (D-New), of the foreign relations committee and Senator Austin (R-Vt.), assistant minority leader.

The upshot of the long discussion was that two statements were issued:

The first said: "Senator Barkley said the consensus of opinion on the part of those members of the senate present was that no action on neutrality legislation can be obtained in the senate at the present session and that a majority of the senate would concur in this view."

Expresses Same Belief

"Senator McNary expressed the same belief: 'They agreed that a majority of the senate would consider neutrality legislation at the beginning of the next congress.'"

The second said: "The president and the secretary of state maintained the definite position that failure by the Senate to take action now would weaken the leadership of the United States in exercising its potent influence in the cause of preserving peace among other nations in the event of a new crisis in Europe between now and next January."

The President was represented by some of those present as being particularly anxious that the responsibility for failure to act—a failure which he contended would be this country's hands if war broke out in Europe—be placed squarely on the Senate.

This was reported to have provoked a bristling exchange with Borah, in which the veteran Idaho Senator, sitting directly opposite the President, was quoted as saying:

"Of course the responsibility must rest upon the Senate. Where else could it rest? It is perfectly proper that it should be there. We are not operating under Hitler."

In a sharp exchange of views with Borah, one conference said, the President declared that the Senator might have his opinions, but that he, the President, had facts. At one point, accounts of the meeting continued, Garner turned to Mr. Roosevelt and said:

"You had just as well be candid about this, captain, you haven't got the votes."

Garner then asked Barkley if he thought the administration controlled sufficient votes to discharge the foreign relations committee from consideration of the neutrality legislation and bring it directly to the floor. Barkley replied that in his opinion it did not, and cited results of a poll he had taken in the afternoon.

Garner then asked Borah if he believed there was a possibility that the administration could upset the 12 to 11 vote by which the foreign relations committee declined to act. Borah's reply was in the negative.

Earlier phases of the discussion were outlined authoritatively as follows:

The President outlined the steps which the government has taken in attempting to preserve world peace. He observed that he could not say there would be war in Europe, but that the probabilities pointed in that direction. Borah took issue with that statement.

Under the present law, containing the Arms embargo, the President regards the administration's hands as tied. McNary suggested that repeal of the embargo was unlikely to change the situation much.

Secretary Hull took up the discussion, outlining again his six-point peace program. This program would substitute for the embargo a system of presidential fixing of wartime danger zones, from which American ships and travelers would be barred.

It would require also that belligerents purchasing goods here must obtain title to them before shipping them. It would bar loans and credits to warring nations as well as prohibit solicitation of funds for them here. The munitions control board section of the present law would be retained.

Opponents have said and proponents have not denied that repeal of the arms embargo would be calculated to aid England and France. They presumably would control the seas in wartime and also would have cash to make purchases here.

life, he maintained that capitalism instead was in its first stages. But he predicted it would become "socialized individualism," and he did not spare what he considered as abuses of the system.

At various times in his long career he defended striking miners in Colorado, opposed "company unions" in the New York subway system, called the race for big armies and navies economic waste and advocated reduction of inter-governmental war debts. He approved the gold policy of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's first year in office as the strongest possible weapon against inflation.

Accomplished Planist

Though it was said of him that he had written more books and belonged to more learned societies than any other economist, Dr. Seligman was known also as an excellent planist, an ardent bicyclist and a man who did not believe in working after sunset. He wore a square beard and nose glasses.

He was born in New York April 25, 1861. His father, Joseph, was founder of the banking firm of J. & W. Seligman & Co. His grandfather, David, had come to the United States from Bavaria.

In 1887 Dr. Seligman married Caroline Beer of New York. They had a son and two daughters.

Hasbrouck Loses His Keys And Causes Excitement

Captain S. V. Hasbrouck of West Point who has a camp at Stone Ridge this summer went fishing Monday in a creek near the Ford school. He parked his Ford pickup near the school and went down to the Esopus creek. While fishing he lost the key to the car as well as his license card and unable to use the car he walked back to Stone Ridge.

Next day a neighbor who had seen the car parked at the spot overnight became alarmed and notified the sheriff's office that something strange was afoot.

Deputy Ray Winne was sent to investigate and was informed the car had night the officer had vision of an accident or possible drowning of the driver. He started a search along the creek for the owner of the car and came upon a man very much disgusted who was poking about the creek rocks. Investigation disclosed that the man was Capt. Hasbrouck who returned to the creek Tuesday to search for the missing keys and billfold. He found them.

Attempted Theft Reported At Vanderlyn Gas Station

An attempt to break in the gasoline station operated by Jay Vanderlyn in the town of Ulster just across the Washington avenue viaduct some time Monday night or Tuesday morning apparently resulted in the party being frightened away. A pane of glass was removed from a window and the thief attempted to gain entrance by unlocking the window. The window however was secured by large screws which prevented it being raised.

Unable to get in the window an attempt was made to open the lock of a door with a wire. The intruder apparently was frightened away as the wire was found in the lock when Deputy Sheriff Ray Winne made an investigation.

Dies at Hospital

Danbury, Conn., July 19 (AP)—Henry C. D. Michalis, 12-year-old son of Clarence G. Michalis of Garrison, N. Y., and New York City who was accidentally shot last Wednesday, died at a hospital here last night from a bullet wound in the abdomen. State Police Lieutenant Leo F. Carroll said the accident occurred at the Ridgefield estate of Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Bulkeley where the Michalis boy was visiting.

Francis Randolph of New York, grandson of the Bulkleys, was target shooting with a .22 calibre rifle. The rifle, placed against a tree by one of the boys, fell over and was discharged when it hit the ground.

Stolen: $14,871

Entered with the Milrose A. A. is Sanford Goldberg, who ran in the Princeton invitation meet this summer, and who is one of the east's most consistent half milers. Slated to run against Wayne Rideout, twin brother of the famous miler who will be at the Kingston meet, Goldberg will probably give the spectators one of the outstanding performances in the distance events.

Other entries from the Winged Foot of Newark, the Grand Street Boys, Lenox Hill A. A., 69th Regiment, Shore A. C., Pioneer Club, together with those of the New York A. C., Milrose A. ## GETTING THE LIONS' SHARE

For the past three years W. H. Baxter (left) of Seattle, Wash., and George Cushing of West Philadelphia, Pa., have raced to be first to register at the Lions' Convention. Baxter won two years in succession, but Cushing was first to register at this year's convention in Pittsburgh, Pa. Here Cushing proudly displays his No. 1 registration booklet—his lion's share of the convention—to Baxter in the Smoky City.

Dry Weather Brings Game Protectors to Trout Rescue

Due to the extremely dry weather in this section of the state, it has been necessary for the game protectors to patrol the trout streams for the purpose of liberating trout which have been landlocked by reason of the streams receding.

Inspector Fred DeWitt, of the local office of the conservation department, and Game Protector B. M. Castle have been patrolling trout streams of the Catskill section of Ulster county for four weeks and have liberated thousands of small fingerling trout and some of legal size which have been landlocked.

Recently they located a small pool on the Mink Hollow stream where at least 500 or more fingerling trout were landlocked. These trout were released and allowed free passage into the open waters of the stream. Undoubtedly they would have died in a day or two. Only two or three dead trout have been found by the protectors along the streams.

It is apparent that raccoons and water snakes are now feeding on trout. Yesterday while they were patrolling the Bushkill at West Shokan a water snake was found in a pool which contained at least 200 trout. Inspector DeWitt shot and killed this snake. It was placed in a pail, and on stopping at the Holland House at Mt. Tremper the snake was opened and its stomach contained 11 brown fingerling trout measuring from 1 1/2 inches to about 2 1/2 inches.

There have been three reports received by the protectors of dead trout being found in the tributaries of the Esopus creek. On making an investigation it developed that no facts could be found of trout dying in the stream. The protectors are to continue patrolling the trout waters, especially the tributaries of the Esopus creek, until such time as there is sufficient rain fall to take care of the situation.

Democrats to Meet

There will be a meeting and election of officers of the Fourth Ward Democratic Club, Thursday night, starting at 8 o'clock. After the business session, a social will be held.

'Diamond Horseshoe' Bows Out of Metropolitan Opera

New York, July 19 (AP)—The "Diamond Horseshoe" is about to bow out of the Metropolitan Opera, leaving its future financial support up to the masses instead of the classes.

For more than a half century the shareholders in the Metropolitan Opera and real estate company, who are also the owners of the 35 boxes of the famous glittering horseshoe, have controlled opera in New York.

All the original shareholders—leaders of the "400" during the gilded age—are dead, and Robert S. Brewster, president of the real estate company, said it was no longer possible to furnish the opera house on the old terms.

Brewster said it was decided at a meeting of the real estate company yesterday to propose to shareholders that they sell the Metropolitan Opera House and storage warehouse to the Metropolitan Opera Association, the company which actually produces the opera.

The association has asked to buy the properties for $1,500,000, subject to a mortgage of $470,000.

Cornelius N. Bliss, chairman of the opera association, said if the offer was accepted his organization had in mind "the possibility of enlisting civic groups to join with the opera association in establishing a permanent musical center."

The plan will be submitted to the stockholders of the Metropolitan Opera and real estate company at a meeting some time in September, Brewster said.

The traditional gleam of tiara and necklace will be seen in the "Diamond Horseshoe" through the 1939-40 opera season, perhaps the last that society's gold guard will dominate in its once exclusive stronghold.

The present lease runs until next May 31.

Boiceville Rangers Play Tie Game with Wiltwycks, 7-7

Rangers Bind Up Score in Two Last Innings of Contest

Wiltwycks Clash with Independents Thursday—Jemen After Second Win Over League Leaders

In a dramatic diamond duel, Boiceville and Wiltwycks struggled through seven thrill-packed innings to a hectic 7-7 deadlock in last night's City League offering. Excitement reigned throughout as the rivals battled for undisputed possession of third place but wound up in a Mexican stand-off. Wiltwycks jumped away to a 7-1 edge but Boiceville picked up six runs in the last two frames to even things.

Thursday, the league-leading Independents, riding on the crest of a four-game winning streak, tangled with the rampaging Wiltwycks in the City League tilt at 6:30. Bud Swarthout or Bob Bush will ascend the hill for the Indies while Toddy Uhl or Lee Komosa is down to ding 'em for the Teahouse Gang. Wiltwycks administered the season's lone defeat to the all-conquering Powerhouse and are gunning for another win.

Drama reached a feverish pitch in the last of the seventh when, with two out Komosa, batting for Freleigh, lashed a booming three-bagger to deep right center. All Nussbaum pursued the rolling pill as the crowd howled. Nussbaum nabbed the pill as it caromed off a car and cut loose with a long heave holding Komosa on third.

Astolas, with two strikes, slapped a sizzling grounder near second. Nussbaum dashed over, made a neat stab, and cut loose with a hurried toss as Astolas tore down the line. Bush made a sensational sprawling stab to end the wild and woolly diamond saga, nipping the speedy Astolas by a half-stride.

Rangers Rally
Trailing 7-1, the Rangers sent the large crowd into an uproar with a sensational five-run uprising in the sixth. Schneider reached on Steigewald's wild heave but was run down on Lane's tap to Astolas. Lane took third on Davis' solid rap and Ashdown plunked Bush to load the bases. North, rangy left fielder, lashed a single down past third, rallying Lane and Davis and Bush home when Reinhardt's fly rolled to the stands. Nussbaum walked but North was tipped going into third on McManus' dribbler. "Jabbo" Nyulassy then slammed a ringing triple scoring Nussbaum and McManus before Joyce hawked Al Nussbaum's hopper.

Boiceville muffed a golden opportunity in the seventh. Schneider fanned but Lane and Davis banged out singles before Bush shifted. North was the big hero again when he came through in the pinch by bombing a one-bagger scoring Lane with the equalizer as the large crowd gave the courageous Rangers a tremendous ovation. With men on second and third, Bob Nussbaum waved fullback as Toddy Uhl's hook floated by.

Bleacher Blarney

Vince Stoll continued to pick the pill, going "three for four." Ralph North, Rangers workman like left fielder, had a field day with the willow with three safe slaps. Wiltwycks had eight hits while Boiceville chalked up seven. Just like a three-ring circus, added attractions last night included a Lou Knapp-Pie Murphy pushing contest at first as Knapp hit the ceiling over a close one on Davis. Murphy was on the frying pan all night but stuck by his guns like a true soldier.

Don Kelly's dad, ardent fan, put a lot of pepper and zip into the bleachers. Mr. Kelly put on a Leo Durocher act from the Wiltwycks bench that started the crowd howling.

Turk moved back into the West Texas League for Bush in the sixth. Jimmy was playing so far back that he almost held up traffic on the West Shore tracks.

"Cowboy" Nunn, Boiceville sub second catcher, certainly is a Beau style in headpieces wearing a bandana tied around his forehead. What next, "Cowboy"?

Eddie McManus made a jumpy of a stab on Steigewald's hard hopper in the first. Mac had to go to town to flag that one down.

Meb Lynch, Wilbur's Henry Fabian (Polo Grounds groundskeeper) had the diamond in tip-top shape last night. Nice going, Melvin!

Red Sleight and Bill Hanley, Grunies big butter and egg men, floated in brandishing big stogies as a la Joe Jacobs.

Last night's tie will be replayed on Monday, July 31, according to the bookings of Secretary Jim Geoghan.

HENRY PICARD: The Veteran Stylist Is King Among Professional Golfers

By The AP Feature Service
HENRY PICARD finally broke through. He's the new Professional Golf champion. Five years ago he set a record by busting par in 50 of 54 tournaments. His pro pals knew he had the game to win any crown. Every year he was a serious threat in the National Open and the P.G.A. but his July triumph in the Professionals' championship brought him his first major title. He's won more assorted tournaments than any other golfer this year and tops the money winners with $8,177.

HENRY is 31 years old, 6 feet tall and weighs around 170 pounds.

HOLING a 7-foot putt, Picard beat Byron Nelson in the PGA finals.

TROUBLE comes even to the champions: Picard tackles a tricky shot out of the rough.

SOCKER: Henry gets his body into his long drives. He is one of golf's stylists with his flowing swing.

About City League Rift

July 18, 1939
Kingston, N. Y.
Sports Editor,
Kingston Daily Freeman,
Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Sir:

Speaking in behalf of the Jones Dairy club of the City Baseball League we hereby announce the withdrawal of the club from further competition in the league.

The entire membership of the club, by a unanimous vote, have agreed to withdraw from the league unless the circumstances surrounding the recent protest with Wiltwycks are reviewed by the managers and officials of the league.

It is our opinion that the protest was not decided impartially or on the merits of the circumstances involved. If and when the situation arises, we are prepared to reveal discrepancies in the official verdict.

The members of the Jones Dairy club while at no time in agreement with the 3-2 decision rendered by the managers at the protest meeting, played off Friday night's game with the Independents purely in the interests of the league. We felt that since we had advertised the use of the field and the fans were looking for him and the game, it was an obligation on our part to go through with the game. We should like to have it distinctly understood that the game was purely for the benefit of the league and not for the satisfaction of the officials.

We are prepared to show that Addison Jones, sponsor of the club, had been advised by Jack Dawkins and Secretary Geoghan to borrow a catcher and play an exhibition for the benefit of the league when it became apparent that a misprint in the local evening paper was the real cause of all the confusion. (The error was not the fault of the paper).

Mr. Jones insists that he talked with Secretary Jim Geoghan at 12:30 the day of the protested game and informed the secretary that Jones Dairy would not be able to play the game since George Zadany, the club's only catcher, had left town for a vacation with the assumption that the game would not be played—as was stated in the paper Saturday evening.

We do not wish to take any more of your space to go into further details. However, we unanimously believe that we were the victims of an unfair decision at the protest meeting and that the adverse decision had much to do with the indifferent performance on Friday night against the Independents. Unless the case is reviewed and settled to our satisfaction we are firm in our decision to withdraw from the league.

Yours in sport,
GEORGE ZADANY, Captain
ADDISON JONES, Sponsor
Jones Dairy Baseball Club

Dawkins' Version
Jack Dawkins, manager of the Independents in the City League, today wrote as follows regarding the rift caused over the Jones-Wiltwycks game last week.

"I am forced to answer the letter by the Joneses made public previously and presumably in The Freeman this evening.

"As far as Addison Jones being prepared to show I advised him to play an exhibition game, he is absolutely correct. He came twice to me on the day of the Jones Dairy-Wiltwycks game and asked me for advice, stating that his catcher, George Zadany, would not be available for that night's game.

"Here is the advice I gave him, which reads so much different in his letter: I suggested that perhaps he could see Gus Steigewald and try to call off the game. I said if they will call off the game, why don't you pick up another catcher and play an exhibition game anyway in order so as to not leave the fans without a game, because this would hurt the City League. I didn't say that he should forfeit the game by taking another catcher, the way his letter reads.

The most important of all that I wish to bring out, since I have been brought into the matter, is the fact that Addison Jones and team suggested that they play the game on this particular night. Addison Jones and Zadany came to me and asked me if I would call off our Tuesday game so they could attend the All Star game in New York. I immediately agreed.

Then they arranged to have their next Friday's game played on Monday to straighten out the schedule. When the error appeared in the newspaper schedule I cannot quite understand why they could have forgotten about the game the night before. They were short one catcher that night, whereas I was short two catchers and only had eight men the same week.

Albany (AP)—Chauncy M. Deppe, Post-American Legion, had to call off its plans for a fat man's race at its picnic. There were no members stout enough to qualify.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

By BILL BONI
Associated Press Sports Writer

A young man going up passed an old man coming down today.

Richard Atley Donald is 26 years old and a right-hander. This is his first full season in the major leagues. Yet already the New York Yankee recruit has pitched 11 straight victories, one more than the best previous performance by a big league "freshman."

Carl Owen Hubbell is 36 years old and a southpaw. This is his 12th season in the major leagues, his 12th with the New York Giants. Over that span, he has put many a record into the books, perhaps more than Donald ever will set. Yet this year "King Carl" has been able to pitch only one complete game, has won but two, and has received only two starting assignments since July 4.

Donald began the season as the "old man" on the mound, a rookie figured to do little more than mop up in games already lost. Hubbell, after an operation on his salary arm, was counted on to come back and be the "meal ticket" of old for a pennant-contending Giant club.

Ahead 8 Games

Today the Yankees, with Donald a vital part of their pitching corps, are eight games in front of the Boston Red Sox, and Donald has supplanted Harry Krause, who won 10 straight for the Athletics 31 years ago, as the most sensational first-year man in the big show. Meanwhile the crippled Giants are tied for third place in the National League and Hubbell, the hop gone from his fast, once and the break from his curve, has lost five games.

Donald, hand-cuffed the St. Louis Browns with three hits yesterday and shut them out, 9-0. An overhand pitcher with a world of speed and amazingly good control for a youngster, he walked only one man, fanned five and, when his job was done, had slapped the season's first coat of whitewash on the Browns.

3rd Place Tie

While Donald was delivering his fine performance (followed up by a 3-hit combination job by Oral Hildebrand and Johnny Murphy that beat the Browns, 4-3, to give the Yanks a sweep), Hubbell was having trouble. The Giants were beaten, 5-3, and Hubbell was charged with his fifth defeat.

The Cards and Giants thus fell into a third-place tie, the Chicago Cubs moving into second on Claude Passeau's fine pitching.

That topped the Brooklyn Dodgers, 4-2. With the tying runs on base in the ninth, Passeau fanned three men in a row, including Manager Leo Durocher, to push the Brooklyn Dodgers into fifth place.

The league-leading Reds hit hard to bring Paul Derringer, who has walked only 14 men all season, his 12th victory, by 12-3 over the Boston Bees, and Veteran Syl Johnson clamped down on the Pittsburgh Pirates to give the Phillies an 8-3 decision.

In the American League Joe Kraskauskas of the Senators scattered the Detroit Tigers' six hits to tame them, 6-3; Rookie Joe Dobson pulled the Cleveland Indians out of a hole with a neat relief trick to turn back the Philadelphia Athletics, 10-2, in a night game, and Clint Brown, making his 34th appearance in a relief role, saved the second game for the White Sox, 8-5, after the Red Sox had clubbed hard to win the opener of a doubleheader, 13-10.

Nets Will Tell Fair or Foul Hits

Boston, July 19 (AP)—That celebrated ruckus in New York last Saturday which started the Giants on the toboggan may bring a new bit of equipment to National League baseball parks—a net on the foul poles to catch fair balls and obviate hairline decisions by umpires.

Ford Frick, National League president, said here yesterday he was working on a plan to make the placing of such nets obligatory. He said the nets, or screens, would be about two feet wide, inside the foul poles.

"This screen which will be arranged so that drives which sail near the foul pole will land and remain in a net if they leave the playing field in fair territory," Frick said. "If they sail near the foul pole and continue into the stands the umpire will have proof the drive was foul."

It was an umpire's decision on Harry Craft's curving blow which led to the battle which resulted in suspension for Bill Jurgens, Giant shortstop, and Frick said "the trouble at the Polo Grounds" had impelled him to go ahead with his scheme.

Zano's Followers Look for Good Fight from Miller

Giants No Worry To the Reds Now

New York, July 19 (AP)—At the rate they are going to pot, the once proud Giants will be lucky to finish as high as fourth in the National League race.

Only a few days ago they were a scrappy, confident club, certain that their hitting would enable them to catch Cincinnati in the stretch. Now they look all through, and the Reds can stop worrying about them.

The fines and suspension plastered on them over the week-end by President Ford Frick appeared to take all the fight out of Colonel Will Terry's men, and the injuries to Lou Chiozza and Harry Danning knocked them in a heap.

Almost over night they have found themselves forced to fall back on perhaps the most inept infield this side of the minor leagues. No replacements are in sight—not until Bill Jurgens' suspension ends a week from now. That is a long time to wait at the rate Cincinnati is going.

Terry sits glumly on the bench, seldom sticking his nose on the field during the game. Unaccustomed to bad breaks he has fallen heir to a whole season's quota of them all at once, and he isn't happy.

The Giants wouldn't argue over a decision. Even when Rippe hit what looked like a legitimate double down the left field line with two aboard and the umpire said foul they only grumbled a little to themselves. A week ago the same decision would have provoked at least a small riot.

A half hearted movement has been started to appeal to President Frick to let Jurgens return to shortstop at once, to call off his suspension at least until the Giants can get some of their other regulars out of the hospital.

But nothing is likely to come of it, for Frick is in a very firm and unyielding frame of mind these days. The Giants are out of luck.

Nelson, Picard Are Men to Beat

Chicago, July 19 (AP)—It's hard to figure it out any way except that Byron Nelson and Henry Picard are the men to beat in this week-end's western open golf tournament, a calculation of which defending champion Ralph Guldahl no doubt is keenly aware.

Guldahl won the western title when he couldn't win anything else back in 1936 and maybe a victory in the 40th annual renewal of the fixture will set him off another streak in major competition, but first he must dispose of the red-hot Nelson-Picard twosome, as well as a lot of other topflight golfers.

Since winning his first western open three years ago, Guldahl has added two more westerns to make it three in a row and has won and lost the national open title. Now he faces a possible shutout in the summer pro title game.

Nelson, national open champion, and Picard, the new P.G.A. champion, are the shotmakers who have stolen his thunder.

This trio and about 250 other pros and amateurs will tee off Friday over the Medinah Country Club course in the first round of the 72-hole medal play event. Another 18 holes follow Saturday and the final 36 Sunday.

The entry list for the western reads like a who's who of pro golf. Snead, Metz, Jimmy Thomson, Johnny Bulla, little known pro who finished second in the British open; Dutch Harrison, Paul Runyan, Harry Cooper, Denny Shute, Horton Smith and many others will be in there firing at Guldahl's three-year hold on the title.

St. James team scored five runs Tuesday evening at armory diamond to defeat the Congregationals who were able to collect but four runs. Trinity M. E. defaulted to Redeemers for a 9 to 0 score for Redeemers. The Wurts Street Baptist vs. Port Ewen game resulted in a forfeit also by Wurts Street.

This evening Clinton Avenue meets Albany Avenue Baptist at Hasbrouck Park and Fair Street plays Hurley at armory.

Central Hudson 7-1

The Central Hudson softball team won a City League game from the Canfields, 7-1, last evening at lower Hasbrouck Park. Tom Reynolds hit a homer for the Centrals with two men on Batteries were Strong and Terwilliger for the winners; F. Rice and Heppner for the Canfields.

ACWA, 3-2

In one of the fastest games of the softball season the ACWA nosed out the Hercules, 3-2, last evening in an extra inning at Loughran Park.

For the ACWA, in the first inning, Mellett singled and J. Coluch hit a homer. Hercules tied it up in the last of the fourth on two runs, the result of three hits, and a base on balls.

In the eighth, the ACWA clinched the decision when A. Berardi was safe on a fielder's choice, went to second on a wild throw and galloped home on a long single by R. Lewis.

Parsons Promise Preaching If Boys Try to Play Ball

Charleston, S. C., July 19 (AP)—If you like your preaching and baseball mixed, come to Charleston Sunday.

Officials of the Suburban Baseball League say there's going to be a Sabbath game on the North Charleston diamond. The Rev. Paul Priddy, Baptist minister, and the Rev. John H. Justice, Methodist Episcopal pastor, say if the boys try to play ball, there'll be some preaching, too.

Last Sunday the ministers and 75 of their followers "picketed" the ball park. After the game started, they marched on the field, singing hymns and displaying placards bearing such inscriptions as "Keep the Sabbath Holy." There were some hecklers among the baseball fans. But their noise was drowned out when the church folks opened up with loud speakers.

The Suburban League met last night. The matter should "be

Billions of Pennies Lost by Americans

Government Cannot Figure Where They Go.

WASHINGTON.—Speaking of losing things, must officials estimated that Americans have misplaced 5,000,000,000 pennies since the government started making them.

Comes summer every year and the loss mounts higher, for this is the time that children are out of school and on the loose—spraying pennies behind them.

Copper cent pieces—the government doesn't call them pennies because that is a British coin—are definitely the money of children. Of the unaccounted for 5,000,000,000, officials guess that more than half have been dropped down drains and gutters or lost in the streets by youngsters.

Millions, of course, are in children's banks and a lot more in vending machines.

The government can keep track of most of its money, but pennies always have been elusive.

Of the rare two cent pieces once coined to a total of 91,202,000, upward of 57,000,000 still are missing. More than 94,000,000 three-cent pieces were minted, and 66,000,000 never came home. Collectors have relatively few.

Penny-making is one of the nation's biggest businesses. They are turned out at the rate of 2,871 a minute each working day.

Enough one cent pieces have been coined to girdle the earth three times if laid end to end. Yet—

Officials say the average citizen has only three in his pocket.

Where do they go?

The government has given up trying to figure it out. Officials once tried, long ago, but the best research failed.

Anyhow, why worry when you're making money? Uncle Sam makes a gross profit of nine cents on every cent's worth of copper used in the coinage.

Canadian Mace Bearer Is Also Tailor and Fireman

FREDERICTON, N. B.—Sergeant at Arms Karl A. Walker, the colorfully uniformed figure who carries the ponderous silver and gold mace in the New Brunswick legislature, has a background believed to be unique among such officials in the assembly houses of the Canadian provinces.

For one thing Walker made his own uniform. In business life he is a tailor, so the natural course for him after he was named sergeant at arms in 1931 was to measure himself and cut and fashion the regalia. So he is perhaps the best dressed of all sergeants at arms.

For another thing, Walker is chief of the Fredericton city fire department. This fact, according to reliable sources, once caused the many-sided tailor to wear his official uniform with two pairs of trousers at the same time.

He was delayed at a serious fire on this occasion and had to "hurry like blazes" to get to the legislature. He did not take time to change his trousers—he just pulled the official pair over his fireman's pants—and thus when the speaker entered the chamber the sergeant at arms was on hand to accompany him, and everything turned out fine.

Fried Chicken Solves a Neighborhood Squabble

REVERE, MASS.—The best way to stop a neighborhood squabble is to remove the cause, even if you have to eat it, according to Patrolman Arthur Sweeney.

Two lusty-jungled, early-rising roosters were the cause in this case. Sweeney tried to convince their owner that she would have to silence them but was stumped by the question—"How?"

So Sweeney bought them from her. Going to the next-door home of the most constant complainant, Sweeney explained how he had settled the matter. In appreciation, the man volunteered to kill them for the policeman, and a woman neighbor—also a complainant—volunteered to pluck and clean them for him.

The neighborhood once again had peace. Sweeney had a feast.

Man With Nine Children New Secretary of Hoboes

Pittsburgh, July 19 (AP)—A Pittsburgh man so domesticated he has nine children is the new international secretary of the League of Hoboes of the World and of the Hoboes of America.

Iles George Siebert, 47-year-old union business agent and formerly one of 17 vice presidents of Hobo League Jeff Davis, king of the hoboes, named him to replace John Weller, one-time Altona, Pa., police sergeant who died last week.

Siebert met Davis in Chicago while he was on the road in 1912. He rode the freights for six years before marriage and children began to tie him down in a home.

"I'm going to aid and assist young fellows and get them to 'stay off the road,'" declared the new hobo secretary.

New Plan For Clothing Sizes May End Children's Misfits

By The AP Feature Service

Because of the sad story suggested by these two pictures, Uncle Sam is plugging a new system of measurements to designate sizes of ready made clothing for children.

Both pairs of coveralls are "size 6" but neither fits this 6-year-old boy. One trouble is that one manufacturer's size 6 may be different from another's. And one boy may be too big or small for his age—so the government is seeking a basis other than age.

TOO BIG

TOO SMALL

THE BUREAU OF HOME ECONOMICS tackled the job, with WPA finances and assistants weighed and measured 147,088 children in 15 states and the District of Columbia. The experts took 35 different measurements on each child to determine what combination would be at the most accurate on which to base clothing sizes. They decided that height—for which the boy at right is being measured—and hip circumference should be basic measurements. Sizes would include boys 39½ to 70 inches tall 19 to 39 inches around the hips girls 39½ to 67½ inches tall and 19 to 40 around the hips. Mother would simply say to the clerk, regardless of Johnny or Joan's age "60 inches tall, 25 inches around the hips." There would be 13 "regular" sizes for boys, 12 for girls, 26 auxiliary sizes for boys and 24 for girls. Manufacturers are considering the idea.

OLD SORREL, SUM!—With only an occasional visitor to note its frame, this skeleton of "Old Sorrel," the war horse of the Confederates' famous Civil War general, "Stonewall" Jackson, draws dust at the Carnegie Museum in Pittsburgh. And so, hints Curator A. W. Henn: "Why shouldn't the South have the horse's bones? They have the hide on exhibit in Richmond."

There are many reasons why you need our plan. Complete information for the asking.
